Checklist for Community Meeting Planning
Who We Are Decide who will sign the invitation on behalf of your group. (Is now the time you finally have to designate official leadership or name a steering committee, and maybe even give your group an official name?)
Who Should Attend? Names and contact information of local policymakers (Refer to your Policy Faces Book in Appendix I) who will receive an invitation.
When Should We Do It? Early evenings and weekend mornings are generally best for public officials and working people.
Where Should We Hold It? Find a meeting room in a friendly and supportive private agency or church. Avoid meeting in a public official's office.
What Kind of Materials Will We Need? A meeting agenda, fact sheets or background information about your campaign's proposed policy solution, a sign-up form for attendees and Policy Faces forms to record policymaker's responses.
